

GREAT AUDIENCE OF "AMERICANS"

Theatre Packed to Hear New Party Speakers.

WARM SPEECHES ARE MADE

SENATOR CANNON DELIVERS PRINCIPAL ADDRESS.

The American party held its final rally of the campaign last night in the Salt Lake theatre. There was a crowd of men and women present that filled every seat in the vast auditorium and occupied all the standing room in the aisles. Many chairs had been placed on the stage, and these were also occupied. Held's band enlivened the proceedings with instrumental selections. Ex-Senator Frank J. Cannon was the principal speaker.

State Chairman W. F. Snyder called the meeting to order and introduced County Chairman George L. Nye, who made a brief opening speech. He began by saying that it had been said that the American party was dying out. It was true that at the beginning of the movement its promoters did not expect it to reach its present proportions. But it had kept on growing until it had attained numbers and importance that had exceeded their fondest anticipations. "Now I firmly believe," said he, "that Salt Lake county will go for the American party ticket at the election next Tuesday. This is no idle boast. The registration has increased far beyond the increase in population, and thousands of people who have not voted for ten years have registered and are going to vote at this election."

Americans at Brigham.

He said that just before coming to the meeting he had received a telephone message from a Mormon at Brigham City, Box Elder county, informing him that an American party club of sixty members had been organized there, and that 100 votes would be cast for the ticket at that place. The election of the American party candidates for county commissioner in Salt Lake county meant that there would be reform at the county seat, and the election of its candidate for sheriff meant that warrants would be served and would not be carried in the inside pocket of that official until the men wanted had taken train and steamer for Europe, where the processes of the courts could not reach them. The election of the party's candidates for the legislature meant that apostolic influence would no longer be supreme in that body.

At the conclusion of Chairman Nye's talk Mrs. C. G. Plummer sang "The Flag Without a Star," and then Frank R. Christensen, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, was introduced as a "young Mormon tired of church domination." He said that outside of Utah 80,000,000 people were watching the people of the state. The situation in Utah was, he said, embarrassing, because of present political conditions. There had not been an election since Utah became a state in which the hand of the church leaders had not been felt. A certain class of Mormons had not aspired to political preference and honors because before doing so they must bow the knee to the priesthood. Those who had refused to bow and had sought office had been crushed into the dust. In conclusion he said the American party expected to win Salt Lake county, and add, "That is all they can hope to win."

The Utah quartette sang "Our Flag" and "My Old Kentucky Home."

Senator Cannon Speaks.

Ex-Senator Frank J. Cannon was next introduced, and some one in the audience shouted "Hurrah for the Stephen A. Douglas of Utah." When the applause which this occasioned had subsided, Cannon said he hoped the day was not far distant when Utah would take its place with Illinois as one of the "American" states of the Union. This made a hit with the audience, especially with the feminine portion of it, and the speaker then took up "church influence," prefacing his remarks with the statement that he was a Mormon and had no desire or intent to antagonize or criticize anybody's religion.

He told how six years ago he had stood in that same theater and pleaded with the leaders of the dominant church to suppress apostolic dictation in political affairs, warning them that disaster would follow if they refused. He was scoffed at and his warning disregarded. Then again two years ago he stood on the same platform and pleaded with Mormons and Gentiles alike not to send an apostle to the senate of the United States, lest they arouse the rage of a long suffering people against Utah. "You all would have continued," with what scoffing his pleading was received.

Statehood in Danger.

Then he cried: "People of Utah, your statehood is now imperilled. Lawyers and editors in Salt Lake tell us that congress cannot revoke an enabling act. But when congress does revoke the act

F. S. SPAULDING ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT AS EPISCOPAL BISHOP OF SALT LAKE

Franklin Spencer Spaulding of Pennsylvania has accepted the appointment of bishop of the Episcopal missionary diocese of Salt Lake, and will take up his work in Utah early next year. A telegram was received from Erie last night stating that Mr. Spaulding had resigned the position of rector of St. Paul's church of that place last evening and that he would leave the latter part of December for the west.

Bishop Spaulding comes to this diocese highly recommended. He was well liked by his flock in the eastern state, which was sorely disappointed to hear his announcement that he would leave. He had but recently laid the cornerstone of the new Trinity mission in Erie. This mission was started by himself and those who are working for it will miss their leader greatly in the carrying out of the project he commenced.

Mr. Spaulding was born in the city where he is now preaching thirty-nine years ago. John Franklin Spaulding, his father, was chosen missionary bishop of Colorado and Wyoming in the early seventies. He lived in Denver for some time, where the son was educated in the public schools and Jarvis Hall, a military academy. He graduated from Princeton university with the class of 1887. The young man was awarded the first Lynd prize for debating. Mr. Spaulding was considerable of an athlete while in college and still takes a great interest in all sports.

The first year after he graduated he spent teaching in the Princeton preparatory school. The following fall he entered the New York general theological seminary, receiving the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1891. He was ordained in Denver by his father and became rector of All Saints' church of the Colorado metropolis. Later he was principal for Jarvis Hall, the Episcopal boys' school where he had in his youth prepared for college.

After teaching four years he went to Erie in 1898 to become the rector of St. Paul's church, where his father had preached thirty years before. Mr. Spaulding has had charge of the Erie church for the last eight years, during which time he made many friends who will mourn his departure for a new field of work. The appointment to the Salt Lake bishopric is considered a high honor and Mr. Spaulding has received many congratulatory letters from churchmen and others on the compliment paid his ability.

By which Utah was admitted to statehood these legal opinions and editorials will be of small comfort to you. Lawyers and editors said Brigham H. Roberts could not be deprived of his seat in congress. But Mr. Roberts walked up against the public opinion of 80,000,000 people, and without waiting to read the constitution congress sent him back to his ecclesiastical duties in Utah.

The speaker wanted to know if any one could tell him how the junior senator of Utah, who was to illumine congress with his apostolic presence, and bring its members to a realizing sense of the necessity of submitting to the will of the Lord, had uplifted Utah. No one told him, and so he said: "The junior senator has been so busy holding onto the arm of his chair with both hands that he couldn't use a finger to point out any kind of a fact. Eight years only of statehood history, and one man sent back and one man—'Coming back,' shouted a partisan in the audience a few seats in front of the ex-senator.

Owe Boon to Gentiles.

"Yes, that's it—coming back," Mr. Cannon exclaimed. He then recounted for the benefit of his Mormon friends in the audience how amnesty was granted and statehood obtained. The Mormons owed these boons to the Gentiles of Utah. For one he felt grateful "I am as full as human frailties," said he, "that I feel that I owe something to my God every day, and in this I am unlike some of the good men I know who feel that God owes them something every day."

The American party, he said, was composed of men who had put aside their political aspirations. They did not expect to hold offices, and were simply engaged in the movement for the benefit of the people of Utah of the present and future generations. They would succeed, and just as sure as his hearers lived they would see Utah an "American state." This country would have no state with an alien star upon its flag. Statehood was imperilled every hour that there was an ecclesiastical administration of its political affairs.

When this speech was ended Mrs. Plummer sang "Deseret," written by ex-Senator Cannon.

Judge Hiles' Address.

Judge Ogden Hiles briefly reviewed the political situation, both state and local. He read a letter written by President Theodore Roosevelt in January, 1903, in which he strongly advised against the sending of a Mormon apostle to the United States senate. Judge Hiles urged all present to vote, the American party ticket, saying that if it did win it would demonstrate that there was a strong sentiment in Salt Lake against apostolic control of politics.

Mrs. Florence MacDonald, Snyder sang a solo, after which the audience dispersed.

PIONEER WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Amanda Kimball, Widow of Apostle Heber C. Kimball, Passes Away.

Mrs. Amanda T. Green Kimball, widow of Apostle Heber C. Kimball, and a pioneer woman of Salt Lake, passed away at 8:50 o'clock last night at her residence, 142 North Main street. Death was caused by pneumonia, which developed only a week ago.

Born in Pennsylvania nearly seventy-five years ago, Mrs. Kimball, then Miss Amanda Green, early became a convert to the principles of Mormonism. As a young woman, she went to Nauvoo, and there she met and married Heber C. Kimball, who, then, as in later years, stood first in the councils of Brigham Young. The ceremony was performed in Nauvoo temple.

Mrs. Kimball came to this city in 1848. Her husband had been one of the pioneer band of the previous year, and had rejoined her at Nauvoo after assisting in the early work here. He then accompanied her on her second trip to Zion. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball almost immediately took up the present home on North Main street.

Her husband foremost among the Latter-day Saints, it was natural that Mrs. Kimball should be one of the most active members of the Women's Relief society, and identified with temple work. For years, and in fact up to the time of her last illness, she had continued her support in both these works.

Three sons survive—William G., who is in the mercantile business at Bigby, Ida.; Albert, traveling agent for Clark, Eldridge company; M. Kimball, who is engaged in the transfer business in this city. All were present when death occurred. A brother resides in Idaho.

Arrangements for funeral services have not yet been announced.

ROBBERS GET NOTHING.

Spokane, Nov. 4.—Safe blowers visited the Bank of Endicott, at Endicott, fifty miles south of Spokane, early this morning. They wrecked the safe, but the explosion awakened Dr. Asa Hendrix, who began shooting from the window of a neighboring building. The robbers fled, firing at Dr. Hendrix but missing him. Of the $4,000 in the safe they got nothing. A posse of citizens has gone in pursuit.

ALL WRONG

The Mistake is Made by Many Salt Lake City Citizens

Don't mistake the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause. It is wrong to imagine relief is cure. Backache is kidney ache. You must cure the kidneys. A Salt Lake City resident tells you how this can be done.

Edgar S. Hoagley, retired, of 4 Goddard Court, says: "Any one who has kidney complaint can easily tell it for pain across the back and through the kidneys is so marked that it cannot be mistaken. For twenty years or more I had backache, some of the attacks being so acute that I required assistance to get out of bed. To stoop or do anything which brought a strain on the muscles of the back when the attacks were at their height was utterly impossible, and when trouble with the kidney secretions set in life to me was not a bed of roses. When I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the P. J. Hill Drug Co.'s store I had been suffering intensely for a week. My surprise was much more easily imagined than expressed when a few doses brought relief and a continuation of the treatment stopped a very violent attack."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
